

Ultimate Air Shuttle consolidating flight operations

May 6, 2016 – On May 31, Ultimate Air Shuttle will consolidate all flight operations to Lunken Airport. The consolidation will bring a streamlined experience for our customers and allow them to utilize our schedule with the highest efficiency.

“We leave CVG on the same strong relationship as we arrived with in 2013. We have a great relationship with the entire CVG team and will continue to have that relationship in the future. We appreciate all the hard work and great service CVG has offered our customers,” said Rick Pawlak, Managing Director, Ultimate Air Shuttle.

“While we are disappointed that Ultimate Air will no longer be operating from our FBO facility, we understand their business need to consolidate resources for schedule and operational efficiencies,” said Candace McGraw, chief executive officer, Cincinnati/Northern Kentucky International Airport. “CVG has grown its seat capacity in the NYC market by more than 33 percent over the last year with fares decreasing 16-20 percent over the last several months. Chicago is equally competitive with an average of 19 daily flights. We’re proud of our relationship with Ultimate Air and will continue to look for opportunities where they can expand and grow service in the Cincinnati/Northern Kentucky area.”

Ultimate Air Shuttle will now offer nine nonstop flights Monday-Friday to Chicago Midway and four nonstop flights to Morristown, NJ. On May 31 Ultimate Air will begin nonstop flights to Teterboro, NJ, two days per week.

This latest expansion will allow customers to utilize both Morristown and Teterboro Airports in New Jersey. Ultimate Air Shuttle’s convenient ground transportation into Manhattan via Penn Station will also be available from both airports.
